Experiences from the Frontline: Our Lives as Reading Group Gurus

The words and wisdom of two professional reading group facilitators, Esther Bushell and Carol Fitzgerald, will inspire you to start or continue your work as a reading group leader.

PRESENTERS: Esther Bushell is a facilitator of community-based reading groups and former high school English teacher. She also serves as the coordinator for Community Reads, an annual event at the Perrot Memorial Library in CT. Esther contributes blog posts on ReadingGroupGuides.com blog and she just launched her new website Literarymatters.net. Carol Fitzgerald is the Founder and President of the Book Report Network including The Reading Group Guide. She previously worked for 17 years in marketing and promotion at Mademoiselle.

10:30-11:30 AM Choose From the Following Breakout Sessions

1. Best Kept Secrets: Great Reading Group Hits that You Might Not Know About

Panelists will share books that they feel have been the best selling reading group choices and those “sleepers” that have been overlooked but will prove appealing for reading groups.

PRESENTERS: Jennifer Hart, VP Associate Publisher, Harper Perennial, Avon and Harper Paperbacks; Barbara Hoffert, Prepub Alert Editor, Library Journal; Rosalind Riesner, Great Group Reads Selection Committee Coordinator, Women’s National Book Association and Talia Sherer, Library Marketing Manager, Adult Trade Books, Macmillan.

2. Rev Up Your Readers: Dynamic Reading Groups for Children and Young Adults

Panelists will introduce a wide variety of unique and innovative reading group formats including using multi-platform books with children and young adults, incorporating lengthy picture books for children in grades 3 to 5, holding Poetry Parties as part of reading group discussions and offering book suggestions to incorporate into your 2011 Teen Summer Reading Groups based on the theme, You Are There.

PRESENTERS: Elizabeth Burns, New Jersey State Library; Sharon Rawlins, Youth Services Consultant, NJ State Library and April L. Judge, Director of the West Caldwell Public Library.

3. E-Reading Groups: Skype, Kindle, E-Books, Google Chats and More!

Descriptions of how book groups can offer eBooks as a reading format option and how to connect online with authors through free social media tools such as Google chat, Skype and Facebook will be offered by the panelists.

PRESENTERS: Doug Baldwin, Systems Administrator, Cranbury Public Library; David Lisa, Urban and Adult Services Specialist, NJ State Library and Barbara Hauck-Mah, Librarian, Rockaway Township Library.

11:30 AM-11:45 AM Break

11:45 AM-12:30 PM

Something to Talk About: Books that Spark Discussion

Is your reading group hungry for books that will stimulate lively discussion? Learn about some novels and memoirs that tackle interesting, thought-provoking social issues with insight and popular appeal.

PRESENTERS: Rosalind Reisner, Great Group Reads Selection Committee Coordinator, Women’s National Book Association and author of Jewish American Literature and Read On—Life Studies both published by Libraries Unlimited.
